School Board Presents Salary Status To Teachers

Teachers Hear Board Proposal For Salary Cut

Meeting Of Public School Teachers Held At High School Today

INDIVIDUALS MUST DECLARE ATTITUDE

No Action As Body Is Taken—Budget Situation Explained

Meeting with the teachers of the New Castle schools today at ten o'clock A. M., Daniel B. Woolcock, president of the New Castle Board of School Directors and Attorney Roy W. Hazen, chairman of the Budget Committee of the board, presented the board's proposal that the teachers accept a voluntary twenty per cent reduction in salaries for the coming school year, and that this reduction be taken from their monthly salaries as a contribution.

A number of questions were asked by the teachers at the close of the presentation but no action was taken, inasmuch as whatever is done must be done individually, and no action of the teachers as a body could bind any individual. The reaction seemed to be that while the cut was a drastic one, that it was necessary to carry on the schools for the full nine month term.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Work is nearing completion on the new bridge at Volant, according to residents of the village. Concrete pouring on the larger bridge is about completed.

Thursday of this week is the first day for registration of New Castle voters for the November election.

Some of the section divisions in the concrete paving on Sheridan avenue are in need of some tar filler before the winter freezing arrives, Pa New is informed.

Pa New found another secondary highway in the county yesterday that is an important connection to the main highways. The road leads off the Mt. Jackson-Enon Valley road, a couple of miles from Mt. Jackson, and goes direct to Petersburg, O.

Hitch hiking for the boys and girls is no longer confined to county highways. One is apt to find them on most any street corner in the city these days. Some of them are so ambitious that they sit down on the curb and don't even get up to attempt to "thumb" a ride downtown.

Sheriff McCloskey Who Released Schenk, Guest Of Sheriff Johnston

Unusual Story Is Told By Man Held In Mountaintains Near Johnstown

Sheriff Ira McCloskey of Clearfield county was here yesterday and related to a News reporter that an arrest would probably be made at Johnstown today as the result of the alleged kidnapping of Garret Schenk, 46, Hopewell, N. J., and imprisonment for 76 days as an alleged suspect in the Lindbergh kidnapping.

Schenk was found in a mountain cabin, just across the Somerset county line, following a tip received by Sheriff McCloskey. The sheriff, Police Chief Klink of Johnstown and State Policeman Mahalleck made the "raid" Saturday.

The Hopewell fish peddler told the sheriff and other investigators he was lured into the auto of a private detective, brought into Pennsylvania, imprisoned and guarded closely. Sheriff McCloskey said an arrest may be made, to a reporter, who found him at Neshannock Falls where he and Mrs. McCloskey were the guests of Sheriff and Mrs. Frank Johnston. They had left Clearfield county Saturday without announcing their destination.

Sheriff McCloskey said that federal, state officers and himself had questioned Schenk and had obtained statements in connection with the alleged kidnapping.

The sheriff said New Jersey authorities had been informed that Schenk was now in their care. They replied, he declared, "they did not want him."

May Probe Statements. The Clearfield county officer, however, intimated that there were some (Continued On Page Two)

American Safe After Episode In Manchuria

Toy Talbot, Terrorized By Manchukuo Officials And Japanese Advisors

(International News Service) MUKDEN, Manchuria, Sept. 6.—Roy Talbot, an American employed by the Chinese maritime customs as commissioner of customs at Antung, Manchuria, arrived here today after being "rescued" through the intervention of American consular officials.

Talbot, born in DeKalb, Illinois, and having a family in Berkeley, California, was held at Antung and forbidden to leave. Meanwhile Manchukuo and Japanese officials, he charged, "bullied" him and attempted to force him to give up $75,000 in customs funds which he collected for the Chinese organization.

Despite threats, Talbot refused to comply with the demands of the Manchukuo officials, who were accompanied by Japanese advisors. Finally American Consul-General Myers, of Mukden, intervened, and as a result Talbot arrived here escorted by Chinese Detectives.

Since Talbot was forcibly ousted from his post at Antung, trouble with Chinese authorities is expected over the issue.

LABOR DAY NO FARM HOLIDAY

Farmers Are Busy With Fall Work Of Various Kinds On Monday

Labor Day was no holiday on the Lawrence county farms, it was evident from a trip through the county. Farmers were busy plowing and harrowing, evidently making ready to plant wheat. Likewise, on other farms they were busy hauling corn and filling the silos.

On one farm it was noted that the entire corn crop was already in shock.

Racketeer War Arrests Near In Pittsburgh

Authorities Said To Know Names Of Assassins In Latest Crime

VOLPE LIEUTENANT IS LATEST VICTIM

Five Members Of Volpe Organization Have Been Shot To Death

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Sept. 6.—The first arrests in Pittsburgh's racketeer war, which has taken a toll of five lives during the past two months, appeared today as detectives admitted knowing the identity of two men who poured lead into Attilio Pecora, 35, Volpe lieutenant, on a crowded Wilmerding street Saturday night.

Pecora died in the arms of his wife, Antonette Pecora, 30, who promised to disclose the activities of her husband in hopes of solving the war that has sent John James, and Arthur Volpe, and John Bazzano, all ringleaders in the Volpe clan, to their graves.

Frank Ferris, chief of the county detectives, would not reveal where he had learned the names of Pecora's assassins. "The men disappeared in a car immediately after their bullets sent Pecora toppling into the arms of his wife. Pecora, who operated a grocery store in Wilmerding, was regarded in the underworld as one of John Volpe's highest lieutenants. Shortly after her husband's death, the widow promised police she would bare his actual connection with the clan whose rule of the underworld has been obliterated by gangsters' guns.

Four Year Old Girl Is Killed By Automobile

Accident Occurs On Lutton Street At DuShane Street Intersection

FLORENCE MacKENZIE ACCIDENT VICTIM

Driver Of Car Was Enroute From Youngstown To Ellwood

Florence, the little four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. MacKenzie of 701 East Lutton street, was fatally injured, while running across East Lutton street at DuShane street, about 10:25 o'clock this morning, when struck by the car of Don V. Strock, 28, of 113 Halls Heights, Youngstown, O., enroute east on East Lutton street. She expired as she was being rushed in the Strock car to the New Castle Hospital.

Coroner Orville Potter was summoned and after viewing the body ordered Mr. Strock to the city police station, where he made his statement, and is being held pending the arrival of bond in the sum of $500, which the coroner required for his appearance at an inquest which will probably be held Friday evening.

Friends of the driver of the car are enroute with the bond and he will be released pending the holding of the inquest this afternoon. Driver Tells Of Accident. According to Mr. Strock, who is apparently the only eye witness of the accident, he was enroute east on East Lutton street at the scene of the accident, in front of the home of the little girl, at possibly thirty miles an hour. He was enroute from Youngstown to Ellwood City on business of the Aetna Standard Engineering company of Youngstown and Ellwood City. Outings Feature Labor Day Holiday

Usual Celebration Here Is Dispensed With By Labor Organizations

Labor Day was observed in a quiet manner in New Castle Monday, the customary Labor Day celebration having been omitted this year by organized labor.

The big event of the day was the community picnic which was held at Gaston Park, sponsored by the Mayor's Relief Committee, where an enjoyable day was spent by many. Many family and group picnics were held at various pleasure spots in the county, some spent the day visiting friends and relatives in more distant spots, while for the sport fans and those athletically inclined, there were a number of baseball games and the customary golf on the various courses.

Today everyone started in with a new grip on things looking forward to the approach of fall and the opening of school tomorrow.

Steps Are Taken For Bridge Over Hettenbaugh Run

Preliminary Testimony Offered Before Judge James A. Chambers

County commissioners, by their attorney, John P. Lockhart, presented a petition to county court this morning, asking that the matter of a new bridge over Hettenbaugh run, near Lakewood, in Hickory township, be laid before the next grand jury. The old bridge at this point was knocked into the run by a motorist about two weeks ago.

County Commissioner P. O. Elder, testified that he had examined the bridge and had secured an estimate on repairing it. He said that it would cost $500, but questioned the advisability of such action in view of the fact that the bridge is old. He gave it as his opinion that the motorist whose car struck it and knocked it into the run must have been going at a high rate of speed. The old bridge had a 16 foot cartway. He favored a wider cartway for a new bridge, if it is built.

County Engineer T. A. Gilkey testified that he had estimated the cost of repairing the old bridge at $500. He said that if it were repaired it would probably last two or three years longer, and then would have to be replaced. He estimated that a new bridge, with an 18 foot cartway, would cost around $3000. Judge James A. Chambers, before whom the testimony was taken, approved the petition that it be laid before the next grand jury, which will meet next week.

St. Mary's School To Open Wednesday

St. Mary's Parochial School under the general superintendency of Rev. Father P. J. McKenna and with Sister M. Aloysis as principal, will open Wednesday morning at nine o'clock. All children are requested to attend mass at eight o'clock, in St. Mary's church. The enrollment this year is expected to far exceed that in previous years due to the Diocesan edict requiring all children of Catholic parents, living within a radius of two miles of the school, to attend the parochial school.

The school is in spic and span order, having been completely painted and renovated inside, with new plumbing and sanitary equipment; putting the entire school building in first class condition. The work necessary to get the school in shape for opening was performed by a committee of men from the parish under the supervision of A. W. Valley, all of whom donated their time and services.

First grade pupils will be started on their educational path by that splendid elementary teacher, Sister Mary Catherine, who has had charge of that difficult grade for the past five years. Second grade (Continued On Page Two)

Officials Probe Suicide Of Jean Harlow's Husband

Blonde Screen Siren Is Reported In State Of Collapse

PAUL BERN DIES OF BULLET WOUND

Brief Note Is Left—Pair Married For Only Past Two Months

By WALLACE X. RAWLES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Sept. 6.—Beautiful blonde Jean Harlow, screen siren, today was in a state of collapse as authorities investigated the motive which caused her husband of two months, Paul Bern, 42, studio executive, to commit suicide.

With only a cryptic note to guide them, police were admittedly baffled. Miss Harlow, youthful actress, was unable to make any coherent comment on her husband's death. "Oh God, how awful," she exclaimed over and over again at her mother's home.

"This is terrible, terrible!" Becomes Hysterical. She became hysterical as the news of her husband's death reached her and at times her sobs and cries were so loud that they could be heard on the street outside her mother's home. A physician was summoned and it was early today before he and a nurse managed to calm her with the administration of sedatives. Her mother was also placed under medical care.

A crowd of curious collected outside the house and police were summoned to keep them moving. Hollywood, shocked over Bern's death, recalled his many benefactions, and how he had aided Barbara Lamarr and Mabel Normand in their misfortunes, and had helped advance the careers of John Gilbert, Joan Crawford, Estelle Taylor, and other stars and players. An autopsy was the first official move today in the investigation of (Continued On Page Two) crowd had been anticipated. There were many out in the afternoon, however, taking one of their last flings at the old game.

Monday was Labor Day in earnest for a lot of people. Pa News noted. Quite a lot of housewives spent the day in doing the family washing as usual.

Labor Day highway traffic made it truly laborious for the driver who ventured out onto the main state and national routes, and those who drove in the thick of it won't wait long to agree. And among the busiest district routes list the Perry Highway, a virtual parade scene last night.

Vacationists were mostly returning yesterday. Cars traveling the highways, luggage-laden and bearing long distance travel scars, were carrying an army of folks back home. Here and there the cars were hurrying occupants to the lake or some other retreat.

Snakes aren't so abundant in the New Castle district but they can be found. Out in the Slippery Rock creek section they can be seen for less than the asking. Blacksnakes and water snakes seem to predominate, although it's said that cottagers at different points have yet to see their first reptile.

One stunt in Lawrence county appeals to all who visit a certain section of the winding Slippery Rock creek, that's walking across the high Western Allegheny railroad trestle that spans a deep chasm out beyond Rose Point. On Labor Day Pa News saw a band of hikers carefully tiptoeing across the bridge.

It was the school teachers who were beckoned to the buildings today. No bells rang out but they gathered anyway. They organized plans for receiving an army of returning students at the schools tomorrow morning.

the real life tragedy which brought to an end what Hollywood had believed an ideally happy marriage.

Officials were also investigating the reason for delay in notifying them of the death of Bern.

Bern was believed to have shot himself through the head before a mirror in a dressing room of his beautiful Benedict Canyon home Sunday night.

Bern was alone in the house after Miss Harlow, accompanied by John Carmichael, the Butler, and Mrs. Carmichael, the cook, had gone to the home of Miss Harlow's mother, Mrs. Marino Bello, for dinner Sunday night.

Mrs. Bern, entirely unclad, was discovered in a small dressing room off the bedroom on the second floor of the home by Carmichael, who notified studio executives, including Irving Thalberg, who summoned police.

One bullet had been fired through Bern's head from a .38 caliber revolver found in his right hand.

Suicide Note

The cryptic suicide note, addressed to Miss Harlow, was inscribed in a green morocco-bound notebook. It was undated, and read:

"Dearest dear,
Unfortunately this is the only way to make good the frightful wrong I have done you and to wipe out my abject humiliation. I love you.
Paul."

A postscript read:
"You understand last night was only a comedy."

What the "comedy" episode was that preceded Bern's death was a mystery that detectives today were endeavoring to unravel.

Carmichael said that the couple was on the best of terms just before Miss Harlow departed for her mother's home Sunday night.

"As they seemed to be as much in love as ever," Carmichael declared. Police planned to question George Davis, negro landscape gardener, who said he had heard some words of controversy between Mr. and Mrs. Bern.

He said they had had some discussion over the title of the home which Bern decided to his wife on their marriage. Davis said he understood from the conversation Mrs. Bern desired in turn to deed her home to her parents and Bern objected.

Bern's intimate friends, in an effort to explain his deed, said that he had a superstitious personal "fear" and reacted readily to the slightest emotional strain. From a philosophical viewpoint he frequently had discussed suicide, they recalled.

Strangely significant became a "family inheritance" Bern had mentioned. He had descended from a strain in which there had been previous suicides.

To Be Questioned.

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 6.—Jean Harlow, the screen's original platinum blonde, made a widow by the suicide of her husband, Paul Bern, studio executive, today was to tell police her story of the tragedy which was disclosed by discovery of Bern's body in their "honeymoon home" in Beverly Hills.

Recovering from hysteria which gripped her at news of Bern's suicide, Miss Harlow was expected to be questioned by Detective Inspector David I. Davidson to clear up the perplexing mystery of the motive of Bern's act.

"So far as determining whether the death of Mr. Bern was suicide or not," Davidson said, "the police investigation is a closed one."

"However, I will take a statement from Miss Harlow in an effort to define the motive."

ENGAGEMENT NEWS REVEALED AT PARTY

A lovely social event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Andrews, Court street, Friday evening, at which time Miss Cora Andrews gave an announcement in honor of her niece, Miss Charlotte Andrews, to James Fitzgerald.

It was given in the form of a "flower bridge," each player assuming the name of a flower, which idea was further expressed throughout the home with lovely bouquets of the season's blooms.

Miss Odette Hodgkinson won the trophy for high score in bridge with Mrs. E. S. Tinsman receiving the prize in 500. Miss Andrews was presented with a gift at this time.

Later in the evening the guests were seated about the dining room table where a large bowl of Talisman roses graced the center, with small envelopes attached to the stems by yellow streamers. Mrs. David Cosgrove on the lighting of the lamps arranged on either side, read an appropriate poem, with Mrs. Harvey Brenner playing accompaniment on the piano. At the conclusion of the poem each guest plucked a rose, reading from the card concealed the announcement of the impending marriage of "Charlotte and Jim" cleverly written in poem form ending with the chosen date—September 17.

Following the congratulatory period the guests were served a delectable lunch, yellow and white tones prevailing in the appointments.

Miss Andrews is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Andrews of Court street and the prospective groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Fitzgerald, Wilmington avenue, and both popular among the younger circle.

WHY NOT THIS IMPROVEMENT?

WHEN the magnificent George Washington Junior high school was erected on Euclid avenue some years ago, it was the expectation that Euclid avenue would be paved from Highland avenue to the school, and as far as Mercer street at least, long before this year.

However, in years when the work could have been done, city council and the school board couldn't reach any agreement as to how the share of the cost for paving in front of the school property would be met.

During the past year or so, paving of the entire street has been rather out of the question as far as apportioning the cost on property owners; and the city, or the school funds.

Hence, it appears that another winter is to pass, without any good approach to the school, unless something of a temporary nature is done.

And why is this not possible?

Euclid avenue is but one block from Sheridan and Mercer which are paved streets.

We have noted that street department employees have done some surfacing during the summer that improves a street very nicely, as a temporary measure. We would cite Rural avenue hill, and North Mercer street hill, among others.

Why would it not be possible to put the same kind of a surface on Euclid avenue in the block in front of the George Washington Junior high school, and on North Mercer street from Sheridan, or on Carlisle street from Sheridan, making the connection?

It may be argued that such an improvement is not possible without assessing the property owners. It would seem that it could be done on the same basis as Rural avenue and North Mercer street hill, and we do not believe that these were assessed against the property owners.

Such a move would give a temporary hard surface approach to the George Washington Junior high school for the winter, that would not be a great expense and could be done, even in this year of depression, we believe.

GET YOUR HUNTING LICENSE

Every County Treasurer in the Commonwealth is being furnished a supply of hunting licenses for the 1932 season. And everyone going afield, with or without a gun or dog, to pursue, take or kill any sort of game animal or bird whatsoever must have such a hunting license with him—except that a bona fide farmer may hunt on the land on which he resides, and on the lands adjoining and immediately connected with his land, without a license—if he has the owner's express consent.

This exception also applies to the farmers' immediate family residing on the land, and to those regularly in his employ residing on the land and assisting in its cultivation, but not even to children whose permanent and legal residence is elsewhere, nor to help employed only from time to time, and not residing on the land and regularly assisting in its cultivation.

Even in hunting unprotected game (such as groundhogs) a license is required. Snakes are the only things which may be killed without a license.

The hunting license will cost two dollars this year, as usual, and must be purchased by every person intending to hunt. The metal tag must be displayed in the proper location on the back and the license paper properly signed. Failure to comply with provisions of this act will subject the offender to the payment of penalties prescribed by law.

SAVING YOUNG LIVES

Nearly 30 years ago former President Roosevelt, in a message to congress recommending the creation of a federal children's bureau, made this observation:

"It is not only creditable to us as a people that there is now no recognized and authoritative source of information upon these subjects relating to child life, but in the absence of such information as should be supplied by the federal government many abuses have gone unchecked; for public sentiment, with its great corrective power, can only be aroused by full knowledge of the facts."

Three years later in the administration of President Taft congress filled this national want by passing an act creating the bureau, which has functioned ever since.

The children's bureau is chiefly interested in children after they are born. While it does not claim the credit for the more intelligent care the child receives today, it has been the center to which any father or mother or teacher or social worker could turn for the best advice that experience has to offer. It has fostered state child welfare programs and encouraged the establishment of state children's bureaus, of which there was only one in 1912 and there are 48 today.

As it looks back through the years this bureau can see the infant death rate greatly lowered, juvenile epidemics reduced to a minimum and a nation of stronger, brighter and happier children partly through its efforts. Isn't that vindication enough?

AIR DEATHS INCREASE

Though 67 accidents and 27 fatalities in the air transport service during the first six months of this year may appear to some a high casualty rate, there was only one passenger fatality for each 3,970,595 miles flown by scheduled transport planes. The record looks better for air security when it is pointed out that six accidents accounts for all the passenger deaths.

One or two disasters give the first half of this year a poorer record for safe flying than the corresponding period of last year, when the passenger fatalities were one for each 5,277,989 miles flown and the accidents numbered only 61.

Department of commerce agents, who probe every accident, know to what these accidents can be attributed. For the first half of this year they know with a fair degree of certainty that 10.96 per cent of the accidents were due to human fallibility, 22.39 per cent to power failures, 19.26 per cent to plane failures and 47.39 per cent to miscellaneous factors, including weather, darkness, terrain and airports.

For air travelers this means that the pilots and co-pilots in whose hands they place their lives are highly dependable and that for greater security in the air aviation must depend upon better motors, better planes, careful observance of weather conditions and improved airports. An interesting comparison can be drawn when it is noted that the human factor is responsible for most automobile accidents, and that personnel errors cause few railroad disasters.

Play Rummy?
You Win If You Help Out
Luck
So Does Everybody

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Do you play Rummy?
It's a simple game, played with 52 cards.

I deal you seven or nine cards. I deal the same number to myself. We place the rest of the pack on the table between us, face down, to draw from.

The idea is to assemble in our hands groups of cards. Three of a kind, or four of a kind, and runs of three, five or even more in the same suits. You draw a card, put it in your hand; if it fits, you keep it. If it doesn't, you place it on the table, face up. I may take it or I may draw another from the pack, and keep that or discard another from my hand.

It's mostly luck; but some skill is necessary. I can group my cards so that I take the fullest advantage of luck or I can group them foolishly. For instance, suppose I have two nine—a club and a diamond, in my hand. Only two other cards in the deck can help me, the two other nines. But suppose I save an eight of clubs and put it alongside my nine of clubs. Then four cards will help me; either the nine of spades or the nine of hearts, to give me three nines; or the seven or ten of club to give me a sequence of three clubs—the eight, nine and ten or the seven, eight and nine.

It's simple. A child sees that in a flash. . . . It looks like luck alone this game of luck, but you CAN arrange your cards so that luck flows into your hand more easily. . . . Some people do that same thing with their lives and people say they are lucky, but I'm not so sure that's the answer.

I've a friend who seems happy all the time. His friends call him "lucky" to have such a happy disposition. But I've noticed that he has arranged his life so that he has a maximum of interests. Dozens of varied things interest him greatly. He's not looking for thrills. He's looking for facts and facts do not fail him. Some lives are arranged so that they catch more disappointments than pleasure, but his is not.

You may have observed that many of the great discoveries were made by thoughtful searchers who were looking for something else at the time, but whose minds were ready to accept and understand anything new. . . . You've observed that even in the business of making money the man who gets the most of it is prepared to seize it whenever it comes his way. . . . In every aspect of living, it seems plain that the greatest true success comes to the one who knows how to arrange his cards so that luck will be welcomed when it arrives. . . . It's quite a lot like Rummy.

TEMPTATION

There are certain temptations which you cannot resist.

You know this but take no action and make no effort to avoid them. It is an admission of weakness when you cannot control a desire. You may be reluctant to admit a weakness, even to yourself.

Each time you are tempted you go the limit, however.

To indulge moderately you think, could do little damage.

But you have not the power, seemingly, to abstain from something that always gains a mastery, if indulged in the slightest degree. The way to a certain hot place is paved with good intentions, "said And your good intentions and many resolutions are as naught when the desire gets a strong hold on you.

Even a little self-indulgence weakens the will power.

There are thousands of persons afflicted as you are and they will tell you the same story—that they cannot resist that particular desire when it comes.

Slipping always downward because they are weaklings.

Too slovenly in will power to keep away from temptation is what you are when you know better and still keep going down hill.

Snap out of it and put something else there when temptation comes.

Wilton Lackaye Eulogized As Fighter For Stage Quality

Death Of Noted Actor Turns Attention To His Place As Link With Group Which Achieved World Wide Fame In Theater

The death of Wilton Lackaye, long distinguished on the American stage, has recalled the many roles he interpreted for the delight of the theater-goer, and his contributions in many other directions for the benefit of his fellow man. "Wilton Lackaye, romantic actor, who died recently, aged 70, was associated with the stage in the 'palmy days' and for four decades he scored his successes," states the ROCK ISLAND ARGUS, recalling that "his most universally praised work was in the role of Svengali during 1895, 'the Trilby year,' and that 'he fought hard for a clean stage, but claimed that the cleansing should start with the public as 'salacious plays are produced because there is a salacious public."

The SCRANTON TIMES praises his work for the betterment of the theater, saying: "During the last quarter of a century particularly his name was associated with many movements for the betterment of the stage and the profession." Describing him as a "gifted speaker," The Times notes that "whether in tramping or playing Broadway his speech after the second act was always demanded." In similar trend is the statement of the PROVIDENCE EVENING BULLETIN: "With his consistent portrayal of clean roles he was a leading antagonist against salacious productions, noting that the audiences had grown away from the sweetness and light and virtue rewarded themes of the plays of his great days to a fondness for realism and frank treatment of ideas that were taboo when he trod the boards with Barrett. His death is the snapping of another link in the stage which men and women with graying hair will never cease to love and to mourn its departure into history."

The JERSEY JOURNAL says of his efforts for betterment of the stage: "Lackaye was one of those monitors it is a good thing for every profession to have." In his recollections of the actor, the WASHINGTON EVENING STAR remarks: "Tall, handsome, graceful and debonair, Lackaye was a memorable personality, esteemed and respected, both on and off the stage. His rigid convictions, he made himself felt as a constructive power in private as in public life. He worked hard, and he loved his work. He leaves a good record and a good name. The city which adopted him and sponsored him mourns his departure." Warmly personal is the recognition given to the actor's personality by the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR, with the comment: "One of the country's best known romantic actors, Mr. Lackaye made many personal friends by his warm sympathies for what he felt to be good and true in life and his outspoken condemnation of what he considered injustice. To many here his death will seem like the passing of an old friend."

Concerning Mr. Lackaye's great creation, the character of Svengali in "Trilby," the DAYTON DAILY NEWS declares: "The list of the characters portrayed on the stage by Wilton Lackaye is a long one. It contains many roles which have been forgotten, but always the memory of Svengali, the base of the actor's fame, remains. The sinister hypnotist who made fair Trilby sing was one of those figures in the world of make-believe which never die." As to the general fame of this actor, The News says: "Sheer artistry in the interpretation of a repulsive role made the actor behind it widely beloved. He was not only a power behind the footlights, but in other activities of the profession well. He had his best interests at heart and made notable contributions to them. Oldtimers will remember this closing of a career which began almost half a century ago, and both because it removes one of the fine old characters of the stage and because it breaks another human link with the days of theatrical giants and a glamor which is no more."

taken but it appeared from the size of the group in the Senior High School auditorium that certainly there were few vacancies. It was the customary meeting of the teachers upon the day preceding the opening of school, but this year's meeting was entirely different from any previous one.

Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent, opened the meeting. After greeting the teachers he explained that the customary program of such a meeting would be dispensed with as there was some business to be presented which concerned each teacher present. He then introduced Daniel B. Woolcock, president of the board who wasted little time in preliminaries.

"We have had a difficult task presented to us as board members," said Mr. Woolcock. "This condition we are facing is without precedent and we have made every effort possible to solve it without taking any too drastic steps. The board wants to carry on the schools of the system for the full term, and we believe that every teacher of the system has the interests of the students at heart. We made every possible economy we could before we arrived at the decision to ask for a contribution from the teachers but this we are forced to do. Mr. Hazen, chairman of the Budget Committee has the facts on this matter in detail and I will ask him to present the plan to you."

Resume Of Budget
"It is only fair to this teaching force that has stood by us loyally at all times," said Mr. Hazen, "to give you the facts leading up to the decision of the Budget Committee and the board. About one year ago a Budget Committee was appointed to set up a budget for the coming year and we realized at the time that a stern condition was facing us. We hoped that the economic condition would improve, but thus far there has been little improvement."

"We wrote to the school districts surrounding us, and to the State Department of Public Instruction, but received little assistance from any of these sources. Boards that said they would not make any cuts, later were forced to do so. We studied two plans, one a modified reduction for force and the other a voluntary reduction upon the part of the teachers."

Reads Budget Figures
Mr. Hazen then went into the budget figures, showing that the past year was conducted with an approximate deficit of $68,609. This year there is expected to be $85,000 in property taxes and in addition, there is a $30,000 shrinkage in the collection of the per capita ($5.00) tax. From September 1, 1930 to April 1, 1931 the cost of the school system was $817,332. Cash on hand and collections thus far indicate $800,630 for this year. This he argued would mean the school could operate but six months if the present salary schedule were kept up.

Some help for the year's budget has been taken from the Sinking Fund. The total needed for the retirement of bonds for this year is $70,000, and the amount placed in the fund has been cut from $90,000 to $30,000. In addition there was $30,000 available in the Sinking Fund which makes the total aid $60,000. With this money, and the savings in reduced departments plus the twenty per cent voluntary contribution asked of the teachers Mr. Hazen said the schools would be able to barely get through and that there might even be a deficit. He then asked if there were any questions.

Questions Asked
Albert Dodds, president of the local chapter of the Pennsylvania Teachers Association then presented some questions which he said had been asked the officers of the association. Preferring the questions he said that the teachers appreciated the difficulties confronting the board and that the questions about to be presented were in no wise critical but merely to clarify the situation.

Q—"When the $85,000 now on file as liens are collected, what disposition will be made of the money?"

A—"It will be revert to the general fund and be used in easing up the financial stringency."

Q—"Will the voluntary reduction affect the pension expectations of the teachers?"

A—"No."

Q—"How can you forecast the collection of taxes for September?"

A—"Based upon the experience of past months."

Q—"How long will this voluntary reduction be expected to last?"

A—"Only for the present year insofar as we now know."

Q—"Would a substitute plan be accepted by the board if it could be shown that it would solve the difficulty?"

A—"I cannot answer for the board as I am only one member. However I know that we have considered many plans and this one seems to be the only one satisfactory."

Q—"May I suggest two plans to the board. One that a ten per cent reduction be taken now and if more is needed to take the other ten per cent later. The other is to make the ten per cent reduction now and if more is needed to issue tax war-ants in lieu of money."

A—"I cannot say whether such plans would be acceptable to the board."

President Woolcock then amplified the statements of Mr. Hazen and said "we will probably have to borrow as it is. The twenty per cent we are asking is a minimum."

Individual Responsibility
Dr. C. C. Green then stressed upon the teachers the fact that this was an individual responsibility, and that no vote should be taken inasmuch as such a vote would be meaningless. He said the adjusted contract which says in brief that the teacher signing it realizes the condition of the school finances and in realizing it, authorizes the board to withhold twenty per cent of the salary. It was explained that any teachers whose salaries were reduced to the Edmonds Act minimum last spring would be offered new contracts bearing the old figures and that the reduction would be based upon the figure Dr. Green said the blanks were distributed to the principals and that they should be returned before Friday of this week.

Some Questions
At this point the meeting was thrown open for general questioning and a number of the teachers asked for information. Some of the question and answers follow.

Q—"Will this reduction in salaries effect the state subsidy given to the New Castle schools?"

A—"I believe not, inasmuch as this is not a reduction of the salary schedule, but a voluntary contribution."

Q—"Would any act of the Legislature at its next session offset salaries this year?"

A—"No. Any action taken by the next Legislature will be for future school terms and could not be applied to this term, as this would be ex-post-facto legislation."

Q—"Should there not be some distinction made in the salaries of the lower paid teachers?"

A—"This was thought of, but there seemed no place to draw the line."

Q—"In view of this proposed contribution and assuming it is made will the teachers be subjected to solicitation for public drives in the schools this year?"

A—"No. The solicitors must see the teachers at their homes this year. There will be no solicitation in the schools."

Q—"Do you not think a graduated scale of contributions would be better?"

A—"We did not think so."

R. G. Leslie, principal of the Highland schools, then arose and said that he had had experience in administrative and executive work of the schools, that he fully appreciated the difficulties of the board and that in the light of what had been said he moved a vote of appreciation to the board for its work in attempting to reach a solution. The motion was passed without a dissenting voice.

Teachers to Meet
This concluded the meeting. Prior to the presentation by the board of officers, Dr. Green announced that the teachers of the following buildings would meet with the principals at the place and time specified. These meetings are for the

Lindbergh Baby Is Still Without Name

Will Not Be Called Charles Nor Dwight Morrow Lindbergh, Close Friends Say

Colonel And Mrs. Lindbergh Are Enjoying Rare Privacy Of Big Morrow Home

By DOROTHY DUCAS International News Service Staff Correspondent (Copyright, 1932, International News Service.)

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Sept. 6.—The Lindbergh baby still is without a name.

Eighteen days after birth, the little fellow is called anonymously "baby", and his parents, Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, are as far from having decided on a Christian name for him as they were on August 16.

Any Name But Charles. "Then they were very much surprised to be the parents of another little boy, it was learned today. They had been so sure the second child would be a girl whom they would call Anne after her mother that they were caught without any suggestions for a boy's name.

The much-discussed probability of calling the child Charles, the name of the first little boy who was kidnapped and murdered, has never been entertained by the Lindberghs, a close friend said.

"No one can take the other little fellow's place," was the explanation. As for "Dwight Morrow Lindbergh," after the late father of Mrs. Lindbergh, that too would bring grief to the members of the family who are still mourning the senator's sudden death, it was said.

"There are so many Charleses in both the Lindbergh and Morrow families that the name is suggested over and over again by helpful relatives and friends, it seems. And that is the one name the new baby cannot have, because there was and still is, in his parents' memory, another child with that name.

Baby Doing Fine.

The new Lindbergh boy looks remarkably like the first child, friends say. He is chubby, happy, healthy, with wisps of darkish hair and infant blue eyes. Charlie Lindbergh had dark hair when he was born, but it grew out and blonde curls took its place.

"The new baby probably will look like Colonel Lindbergh," a friend said. "Right now he does not look like any member of the family except the first baby, and that baby changed to resemble his father before he was a year old, so I presume this one will, too."

Mrs. Lindbergh is well, and the whole family is greatly cheered after its long siege of agony by the normal birth of the fine normal child, it was said. The Lindberghs are staying with Mrs. Dwight Morrow, Mrs. Lindbergh's mother, until Mrs. Lindbergh is strong enough to move her household back to Hopewell, N. J.

After Colonel Lindbergh's request for privacy for the new child, the Morrow household was not disturbed by calls from strangers, it was said. He is very grateful for the way in which he "has been left alone" by everyone, too.

"Motorists Will Please Exercise Due Care"—Haven

School Starts Wednesday and Chief Hopes To Avoid Accidents

"School starts Wednesday morning and there will be thousands of school children crossing streets on their way to school" said Chief of Police John P. Haven this morning.

"If proper care is exercised by both the children and the motorists of the city," said the chief "there will be no accidents on this account. Parents will please instruct their children to cross only at proper crossings and then only when sure there is no traffic that might endanger their lives. Motorists would regulate their driving, especially in school districts and crossings frequented by the school children by driving slowly and with their cars under complete control, so that they may have no regrets in the future. Believing that everybody desires to co-operate in this matter, we of the police department are hoping for a school season free from all accidents of any kind."

NEW DISCOVERIES CONFIRM VIRTUES OF BRAN IN DIET

Supplies "Bulk" and Vitamin B for Constipation; Also Iron for Blood

For ten years, now, millions have found Kellogg's ALL-BRAN a safe, pleasant way to overcome common constipation—with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so often result from this condition.

Recent laboratory tests show that ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. In addition, ALL-BRAN contains twice as much blood-building iron, by weight, as beef liver.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like the "bulk" in lettuce. Inside the body, it absorbs moisture and forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming.

Think how much better it is to enjoy this delicious cereal than to take endless pills and drugs, which often lead to harmful habits.

Two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases with every meal—are usually sufficient. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

ERIC THE RED

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by Harland Frazer... inspired by that marauding Viking chieftain whose vandalism branded him as the "Terror of the North" (975-1000 A. D.).

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies ... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted" That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON. Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

REGISTER WOMEN IN WORK PROJECT

Many Enroll In Schools And Churches To Assist In Making Clothing

There was a very satisfactory registration of women in the city schools Saturday and parochial schools on Sunday. Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger chairman in charge of city production in the local clothing project stated this morning.

While there was a little misunderstanding about the purpose of the registration and date at the West Side school, all of the other places were open on Saturday for registration and a great number registered, both to assist in the work and to secure clothing by making up the garments which will be cut in advance.

The registration was particularly heavy at Lincoln and Garfield, Terrace avenue and Pollock schools, while there was also a good registration in the Catholic churches on Sunday following the different masses.

It is hoped to complete the registration work after school starts tomorrow, and the work of sewing on the clothing will be started as speedily as possible. It is expected to start in the Mahoningtown school this week, the registration having taken place there a couple of weeks ago.

Mrs. P. C. Sowersby, who is in charge of the cutting work, has a lot of material ready for the workers. Announcement will be made of registration arrangements in those schools where the work was not completed Saturday.

He had spent thirty-five years in the service of the Postal Telegraph Company, starting as a messenger boy.

Again Name Ross Temporary Officer

Little Business Of Importance Transacted Monday By Council

Members of council met in the city building yesterday. Harry Flinner, Hillcrest avenue, submitted a communication relative to the construction sometime ago of a sidewalk.

The letter said some confusion surrounded the construction and he would like to pay the face of the lien, about $90.00, but not the interest and costs.

The communication was submitted to the city solicitor for investigation and report.

Charles Settle submitted his report for August. He is the official dog catcher.

Council adjourned after naming Thomas Ross to serve 10 days as a temporary policeman.

Under the law Ross must be re-named every 10 days. He is working, according to city officials, in place of Patrolman M. J. Ritty who was injured and is receiving compensation.

The next meeting of council will be Friday.

Bolivia May Declare War

Pan-American Neutral Commission Seeks Way To Prevent Clash

ARBITRATION OF TROUBLE SOUGHT

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
LA PAZ, Bolivia, Sept. 6.—A bill was presented to congress today calling for an immediate declaration of war upon Paraguay.

The bill was presented by Deputy Molina, urging open warfare upon Paraguay for her activities in the disputed Chaco region.

Presentation of the bill followed reports that Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Peru were preparing for an economic blockade of Paraguay and Bolivia by declaring them in a state of belligerence.

Such action would be taken under The Hague convention of 1907.

Washington, Sept. 6.—War clouds darkened over the grass and forest covered regions of the Gran Chaco today as the Pan-American Neutral commission, of which the United States is a member, met with the most serious obstacle in its eight weeks' efforts to induce the South American republics of Paraguay and Bolivia to arbitrate their dispute.

This was Bolivia's reported refusal to agree to cease military preparations during the proposed 30-day armistice with Paraguay. Reports received at the State department open warfare between the two countries appeared inevitable unless drastic measures are taken by the neutral powers.

So serious was the situation regarded that the scene of activities of the peace negotiations shifted

Taxpayers Demand Butler Officials Take Cut In Pay

Butler Council Called Upon To Reduce Police Force

BUTLER, Pa., Sept. 6.—The Butler County Taxpayers' League, of which Rev. George W. Cheesman, of Portersville, is president, demands that drastic cuts be made in the salaries and personnel of county office holders. The league voted unanimously at a meeting in the community building, to circulate a petition to be submitted to all holders of public office.

Salaries of school teachers and higher-salaried school officials are included in the demands for reductions, and voluntary cuts will be asked in cases where salaries are fixed by law. Butler city council is called upon to reduce the police force to a "reasonable number."

State Senator Howard I. Painter, in a discussion of taxes, advised members of the league to vote against all proposals to issue bonds in payment of public improvements.

Believe Aged Beaver County Man Tortured Before Being Slain

BEAVER, Pa., Sept. 6.—The body of Martin Patton, 84, hermit-farmer of Hanover township, was found gagged and trussed to a chair by neighbor boys Monday.

Detectives said he had been tortured by robbers before he was slain. The house had been ransacked and it was reported that about $200 in hidden currency was taken.

The boys had gone to the Patton home to play with some puppies. They found the door open, entered, made the find.

The Patton home is in an isolated section within a few miles of the Lincoln highway.

Expect To Get Releases Signed For Improvement
West Pittsburgh Road Land Owners To Meet Commissioners Tomorrow

Property owners along the West Pittsburgh road are expected to meet the county commissioners and a state engineer at the intersection of the West Pittsburgh road with Moravia street, tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, according to an announcement by the commissioners this morning.

The meeting is for the purpose of going over the route of the proposed improvement of the road. There has been some question as to the exact lines. The state engineer is expected to straighten that out. Once it is known definitely where the lines are, the commissioners expect to get releases from all property owners, before they will approve the building of the road. A low bid of $61,156 has already been secured from D. W. Challis and Sons of Sewickley.

All that remains is for the commissioners to give their approval and work will be started. Commissioners hope to be able to get all releases signed tomorrow, so that it is important that property owners be at the meeting.

Yankees Need Six Victories

Mackmen Drop Two To Hustling Yankees, Gomez Wins His 23rd Victory

PIRATES SCORE TENTH STRAIGHT

By LES KONKIN
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Connie Mack's Athletics, who nursed a faint hope of overtaking the New York Yankees in the American league race until they were crushed by the Yankees twice yesterday, had a fight on their hands today to hold possession of second place.

Walter Johnson's Washington Senators, who made it 11 victories in their last 13 starts by trouncing the Red Sox twice yesterday, are only three games behind the reeling Mackmen. More important, the Senators have lost only one more game than Philadelphia.

Gomez Wins 23rd

A crowd of 70,772 raving fans, the largest of the season at Yankee stadium, saw Vernon Gomez and Johnny Allen, New York's brilliant young pitchers, humble the A's yesterday. In the opener Gomez humbled the Yankees, forcing one ahead of Lefty Grove and winning 8 to 6 as the Yankees knocked out Earnshaw and Mahaffey in scoring six runs in the first inning. Babe Ruth's 40th homer, one of his longest, landed in the center field stands.

In the nightcap Allen, the league's leading hurler from a percentage standpoint, scored his 16th win and his 10th consecutive victory by gaining a 6 to 3 decision over Rube Walberg.

On the eve of their last swing through the west, the Yankees now lead the A's by 12½ games, their longest lead of the season, and need only six victories to clinch the pennant.

With Crowder and Marberry hurling, Washington took two easy ones from the Red Sox, 6 to 2 and 9 to 3.

Pirates Win Two

In the National League Pittsburgh is shooting at the 1932 record winning streak of 14 victories completed by the Cubs last week. The Pirates made it ten victories in a row by taking two close ones from the Cardinals yesterday, 4 to 3 and 3 to 1. Meine and French were the winning hurlers.

Chicago's lead over the Cubs was cut to six games when the Cubs were nipped out by the Reds, 6 to 5, after winning the opener, 9 to 2.

The Braves took fifth place, passing the Cards, by two-timing Brooklyn, 13 to 2 and 5 to 4. The double play was a body blow to the Dodgers' chances of finishing second in the National league.

Phillies Advance

The Phillies advanced to within 2½ games of the third place Dodgers by shading the Giants twice, 2 to 2 and 5 to 4. Mel Ott's 30th and 31st homers failed to help the Giants.

Earl Averill of Cleveland hit his 29th and 30th homers as the Indians downed the Browns twice, 12 to 9 and 6 to 4.

After losing the opener to Detroit, 5 to 3, the White Sox turned the tables on the Tigers, 3 to 1, thanks to Milt Gaston, who held Detroit to five hits and batted in two of his team's runs.

Trading At Furious Pace
During First Half
HourU. S. STEEL IS LEADER OF RISE

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—A sharp advance in commodities and the hope that the post Labor Day period would bring a turn in business sent stocks up 1 to 5 points to new highs on the move today.

Trading in the first half hour was at a furious pace with turnover of 900,000 shares, the biggest yet seen in the present rise. So heavy was the buying rush that the ticker fell 5 minutes behind. Big blocks of stock were common and one in Packard aggregated 15,000 shares.

Strength was general in securities and commodities. Cotton with a rise of $1.50 a bale and Wheat, up nearly 2 cents a bushel at one time, led a sweeping rise in commodities. Bonds were buoyant and bank stock strong.

Heavy profit-taking developed in all markets as a result of the opening bulge and the gains were halved. Stocks dug in at the end of the first hour and the advance was resumed. Leadership was supplied by U. S. Steel, American Can and Consolidated Gas. Plans of the steel industry to step up operations this week was a bullish influence on the steel shares.

American Telephone was a laggard as were General Electric and Westinghouse.

Specialties were outstanding. Auburn was up 5 points at one time, aided by payment of the regular dividend. United Aircraft spurted 3 points to a new 1932 peak, coppers uniformly strong and went to new highs for the year. Several oil issues did as well. Farm Implement and mail order shares were up with wheat.

Rev. Thos. I. Berger Takes Pulpit At Slippery Rock Presbyterian Church

Occupies Renovated Parsonage Week Ago With Family; First Sermon Sunday

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 6.—The Slippery Rock Presbyterian church was filled to capacity Sunday morning when the new pastor, the Rev. Thos. I. Berger, formerly of Wells, O., delivered his first sermon here since accepting the call to the local church.

Rev. Berger used as his text, "I Am Not Ashamed of the Gospel of Christ." He will have charge of the services at this church henceforth.

Rev. and Mrs. Berger with their two children arrived in this city a week ago Monday to occupy their new home, which had been completely renovated by the members of the church. The new minister succeeds the Rev. Paul H. Elliott, who resigned to accept a call near Pittsburgh.

Rev. Berger was born in Toledo, Ia., where he received his preliminary education. He was graduated from Iowa State college from where he proceeded to the Presbyterian Theological seminary of Chicago, Ill., where he has held charges at Ottumwa, Ia., Cedar Rapids, Ia., and Wells, O. He has been pastor of the Wellsville Presbyterian church for 11 years and altogether has been in the ministry for 18 years. His trial sermon on May 8 here was soon followed by a call to the church.

The new pastor and his wife have two children, Clara who is a school teacher at Wells, and Allen, who is attending Ohio State university.

Since their arrival in this city Rev. and Mrs. Berger have been kept busy greeting neighbors and callers.

New Superintendent In Charge Of City Schools

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 6.—The Ellwood city school opened their terms last Thursday with Prof. Vaughn R. DeLong in charge as superintendent. Prof. DeLong has been in office as superintendent of schools since July 1, at which time Prof. W. Ray Smith's resignation became effective.

Prof. DeLong was elected to carry out an economy program of the board of education which he had proposed and is capably carrying out. At the opening of school he conducted a meeting of the principals and Teachers' Association of this city in the Lincoln auditorium, where he outlined his plans and expectations for the year. The school system this year is to operate with 14 less teachers.

The record compiled by Mr. DeLong is remarkable considering the fact that he is only 29 years of age, which makes him the youngest superintendent in the state. He is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan College. His masters' degree was obtained from Ohio State University. He has done considerable writing for school journals and magazines in Ohio, Kentucky and Pennsylvania. While at Ohio State he was called upon to write the state scholarship test in chemistry.

A more recent honor was his appointment to Governor Gifford Pinchot's county relief board, which will have charge of the local distribution of relief funds under the new $12,000,000 Talbot act. Prof. DeLong is on the Lawrence county emergency relief committee along with Senator George T. Wein-gartner, chairman, Mrs. S. M. Matheny, Mrs. Della Glenn and Attorney Robert L. Wallace. Mr. DeLong will act in a supervisory capacity over the distribution of the money allocated to Lawrence county under the provisions of the act.

Previous to his election as superintendent of the local schools, Mr. DeLong was a teacher of chemistry at Ashland, Ky., and later a principal. For the past three years he has been principal of the North Side and Hartman schools. Mr. DeLong is well known for his ability as a mathematician and economist.

Appeal Is Taken To Surcharges By School Auditors

Secretary R. K. Mattocks Of Ellwood City, School Board, Says He Can Account For Money

An appeal from the report of auditors has been filed at the county prothonotary's office by R. K. Mattocks, secretary of the Ellwood City school board. Mr. Mattocks claims that items of $2,960.78, and $1,547.85, with which he was charged by the auditors, are greatly in excess of the amounts actually due.

Another item of $1,169.28 with which he was surcharged, and which it was claimed was diverted to his own use, was in fact transferred to the petty cash account for use of the school district. Similar action, Mattocks says, was taken on an item of $294.42 with which he was surcharged.

Mattocks claims that he will be able to show that all of the money was properly applied to school purposes and that when his side of the case is heard, it will be shown that there is nothing due the school board. In taking the appeal Mattocks gave the required bond of $500.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

The calendar disagrees with the statement, but to all intents summer ended yesterday. Let the calendar have whatever date it wishes for the opening of its seasons, you and I know that summer starts on Memorial Day, is at the half on the Fourth of July and ends on Labor Day.

Ask any youngster between 10 and 17 when summer is over and he will tell you the day school starts in September. From now until next June the weather will be more or less changeless, just class room weather five days a week.

As for us, Labor Day offered an ideal time to make a trip we've wanted to make for a long time, and that was up to the Pymatuning Swamp. Not the Pymatuning Dam if you please, but the interior of that swamp about which so many tales have been spun by Crawford county old timers.

The day was ideal, and the trip proved to be worth the time and effort. From now on we are prepared to stand up and roar when the ship that got up into the swamp and then couldn't get back, finally disappearing into the ooze and slime.

It is a queer place. Walking through it is like walking over a huge sponge and any minute you expect the sponge to collapse and let you down. The reason it does is because of those finely matted roots and leaves that have been decaying since long before Julius Caesar was the big shot around Rome.

You can shove a pole down into that soggy mass underfoot as far as the pole is long and all you get is a gurgling sound as the pole goes in and out of the nearly liquid mass just a couple of feet below you. The anyone around you shakes as you stand there and you begin to wonder just how thick the crust of the earth is. What is ten feet below you wonder?

There is moss by the acre and the bale regular looking stuff that makes ideal packing for fishing worms of nesting for fragile china-ware. Your feet kick it up, you reach down and pick up yards of it, some of it dry and some of it just fresh and moist. Just below the moss is a layer of peat moss that would be just what the doctor ordered for putting around your evergreens and below that muck, black oozy muck, looking like moist soot and probably rich enough to grow anything that will germinate.

You find yourself wishing ardently for a truck to haul down five or six tons of that black muck but getting it out would be a job requiring time and patience. No wonder the vegetation is so dense, no wonder the swamp boasts of rare flowers. With that muck you could take ordinary flower seed and raise prize winners.

For acres, actually miles there is smoke making a blue haze over the area. The workmen are whacking down the trees and shrubbery and burning it and once started, that layer of peat moss keeps burning like punk on the Fourth of July.

Here is a clump of tamarack, queer looking stuff said to be a cross between pine and hemlock and looking at first glance like European larch. A pretty tree but native only to swamps. Fall alders, cranberry bushes, huckleberry bushes, and brush that dares you to break through for a peek farther into the interior.

Here is a musk rat's trail as he and his family walked back and forth to food and water. The axe and the torch have barred his secret haunts and he must hunt new quarters. Here is a clump of sumac and the workers up there warn you to stay away from it. Sumac poison.

RETURN TO PROSPERITY:
"The need of the hour is not more legislation. The need of the hour is more religion. More religion is needed everywhere, from the halls of congress at Washington, to the factories, the mines, the fields and the forests. It is one thing to talk about plans or policies, but a plan or policy without a religious motive is like a watch without a spring or a body without a breath of life."

Every man and woman in New Castle must take this as a personal message and not selfishly say "Let George do it".

Read the history of the six terrific panics we have had since 1837 and what cured them.

We must have faith in God,—faith in fellowman,—faith in ourselves.
